This table is collected from multiple sources and from the work of others. It was started in February 2010 to provide a document containing leads for others doing genealogical/historical research and to which they can add updated/confirmed information. Clearly it is a work in progress. There are several individuals included here that were not in Co. C (also called Co. E for a time) to my knowledge. They are included here because the letters of Capt. Voigt frequently mention them, which could cause confusion for a new researcher, or because a source said they were in Company C, but I was unable to confirm this. In some cases men were transferred in and out of the company or the records or other research accounts seem to imply this was the case. References are included so that researchers may go to the source of the information.

The company recruiting started on March 22, 1862 in Industry, TX. Capt Voigt was a businessman there and in Houston. Further recruiting was done in Bellville, TX, and the officer and non-commissioned officers were elected there. The unit then went on to Hempstead and then Houston, TX, probably adding recruits along the way. Some of Voigt's Houston friends or their relatives joined the unit in Houston. The unit was sworn into service on April 4, 1862 in Houston. The unit reached Camp Waul for training on May 21, 1862. During training, new recruits were added to the company, and some men were transferred in and out of the company. The unit left Camp Waul on August 18, 1862, and they were ultimately told to join the Mississippi Campaign. All company operations remained in Mississippi. After arriving at Camp Coldwater above Holly Springs around October 11, 1862, the men received uniforms and muskets that had been converted from flintlock to percussion. The active Company was surrendered to Union forces just outside Yazoo City, MS, in the early morning hours of July 14, 1863. Many company members were captured in Yazoo City hospitals on July 13th. Major General Francis J. Herron reported to General Grant on July 16, 1863, that of the Confederates captured at Yazoo City, he sent the well prisoners down by boat to Vicksburg (122 privates & 7 officers) and paroled 1 officer & 146 men from the hospitals. (From Official Record of the Union & Confederate Armies, Series I, Volume 24, Part III, pages 519-520)

?	Kieschnick, Andreas		(b.13 November 1828) was enrolled July 1, 1862 at Brenham under Bolling and mustered in on July 10 at Camp Waul. He was present and received pay and bounty on August 31, 1862. After being transferred to Co. C (not confirmed) , he was captured at Vicksburg on July 4, 1863 and signed the parole oath. He was absent from the succeeding roll calls and declared AWOL in February 1864, and on April 30, 1864, when the unit was at Galveston, he was dropped from the roll. His residence was Rabbs Creek on the Washington - Bastrop county line. His widow, Louisa, applied for a pension and gave his date of death as 21 February 1901. F. Raube (a member of Co. C and #116 below), as a witness to the application, testified that Andreas was the tallest man in the company and had served to the end of the war. (d. 23 February 1900, Mannheim).		23
