

The Giddings Star
September 25, 1942

Army Plane Crashes Near Grassyville

An army plane crashed near Grassyville on the Paul Artmann farm Saturday night. According to the pilot, the motor of the plane stopped, the plane falling to the ground.

The pilot was thrown out of the plane, but landed safely with the aid of a parachute. It was the first time the pilot had to use his parachute.

The plane crashed to the ground and burned. The wreck was removed to Camp Swift.