

The Giddings News

September 2, 1932

CLOSED AND PADLOCKED

The residence known in Giddings as the Bob Bennet place, the first house south of the jail, was visited by federal officers Thursday afternoon of last week. They placed the furniture in the yard, closed the house and padlocked the front door. A printed sign was nailed on the front wall near the door, which read:

CLOSED

for Violation of the National Prohibition Act by order of the U. S. District Court, Western District of Texas. All persons forbidden to enter premises without order from U. S. Marshall.

Scott C. White,
U. S. Marshall

Quite a crowd gathered while the procedure was going on, and the furniture was promptly moved away by truck by a citizen. The place is owned by Alvin Bohot.