Boriack and Bamsch Awarded Certificates

Tractors cost money and proper maintenance saves money. This statement is very true according to two Lee County 4-H club leaders. These two men just returned from a Tractor Maintenance School held in Weslaco, and at this school they learned many new ideas on how to care for the farm machinery.

They also found out that a tractor is a death trap if not properly handled. All tractor work under the leadership of the Extension Service starts out with SAFETY.

These two men, Gus Bamsch of Serbin and Charlie Boriack of Lincoln were awarded certificates for completing the school and passing all tests. Then to prove they learned something Gus Bamsch is going to help instruct at the tractor school to be held in Giddings Saturday morning.
