

July 22, 1921

Almost a Serious Accident

J. A. Fields was driving his car on a main highway near Austin last week and he thought his gasoline tank was leaking. He was at the rear of his car examining the gauge and some one drove into him, pinning him between the two cars. He was somewhat dazed for a while and did not know what happened. There were several cars coming along and one of them picked him up and rushed him to the hospital. He remained in the hospital for one week and came to Giddings this week. He is still suffering from the effects of the injury. The accident happened about 8:30 and Fields' car was damaged. The one causing the accident has not been apprehended. Fields is thankful that he escaped alive because the other car was driven at high speed.