Barn Burned

The fire alarm was sounded Monday morning when the barn of Chas. Hoppens who lives outside the city limits burned. The barn was full of hay, fodder, and sugar cane and it and the contents were a total loss. The boys had been hauling fodder to the barn early that morning, but no one knew of any way the fire started. The fire department made a quick rush to the fire and did what they could, but it was too late to save anything.
