

The Giddings News

November 27, 1942

Variety

Walter Kappler was here this week from Arkansas where he was employed by the pipe line company which is pumping oil from Louisiana to Illinois. Walter was in some of the upper counties of that state in the swamps where he says living conditions are quite primitive, for instance, you cannot obtain bacon or meat in the cafes, but you can hardly get into the front door because of hogs running in. I saw a front door and bacon is so easily in reach.