

The Giddings Star

August 27, 1953

Letters From Our Readers

AUSTIN, TEXAS

August 24, 1953

Giddings Printing Company
Giddings, Texas

Dear Sirs:

This is to let you know our new address in Austin. We have just returned from Cheyenne, Wyoming where we spent the last three months. During that time, a friend has forwarded the "Star" to us. Now that we are settled down again (Well, as settled as anyone in the Air Force can be), we would like to have you change our address on your mailing list. We certainly don't want to miss an issue.

Naturally, Wyoming has few of the wonders that Texas has, but the cool weather there was a welcome relief after this Texas heat. The mercury hardly ever climbed above 90 degrees during the day — and the nights were chilly enough to require a jacket. A sixty mile drive would take you to the top of snow-covered mountains with near-freezing temperatures. Wyoming is fine in the summer when it's 106 degrees in the shade here, but when winter comes and snowstorms begin in October and end in May, we'd much rather be in good old Texas.

Sincerely,

Bill and Vergie Kitchens.

Note: - Mrs. Kitchens is a former Lincoln correspondent for the "Star".