

The Giddings News

December 22, 1922

The Latimer Recital

Coming in the midst of the bitterest weather of the season to date, Miss Latimer appeared in a recital at the auditorium Monday evening to a small but appreciative audience under the auspices of the Baptist Ladies. Some people do not receive inspiration from empty chairs, but Miss Latimer was not daunted in the least and if she could have done better, we do not know where she could have improved. Her renditions of various dialects and characters was excellent and her program was so acceptable that she will probably give a return engagement at some future date. Miss Virginia Fields assisted in the program by singing some beautiful selections accompanied by Mrs. W. O. Bowers, Jr. Her voice shows remarkable ability and coupled with her ease in rendition makes a pleasing technic.