

The Giddings Star

August 20, 1953

One of the several score of new laws that go into effect August 26 (90 days after adjournment of the Texas Legislature) will be an amendment to the State's Workman's Compensation law that permits insurance companies to pay for chiropractic services for workmen who suffer back or spinal injuries. Gov. Allan Shivers (seated) is shown signing the amendment into law. Left to right, standing, are Dr. Walter H. Fischer of Temple, representing the chiropractic profession; Rep. Henry G. Lehman of Giddings, author of the bill; Rep. Floyd Bradshaw of Weatherford, co-author; and Dr. E. H. Berkman of Colorado, City.
