

Skunk Complicates Youngster's Dilemma

KYLE.—Billy Dean Lengefeld, 6, was the victim of circumstances last week.

He was playing with his new "roping" rope and decided to tie himself up as he had heard in stories. He did a good job.

Just when he was "hogtied," along comes an ordinary polecat and "stinked" him up from head to foot. Billy's screams brought mama on the run but the dense atmosphere kept her away for a few minutes.

After having his eyes treated with borax, Billy Dean was none the worse for his experience except that he was a rather scared and "smelly" youngster.

Billy Dean's older brother refused to sleep with the child, commenting, "There's some things a fellow just can't stand."
