Marvin L. Liberty
With Local Soil
Conservation Service

Marvin L. Liberty has accepted employment with the local Soil Conservation Service as an engineering aid.

Marvin is a graduate of Giddings High School. He had been employed with the LCREC for the past nine year, five of which he served as engineering party chief.

Liberty's duties with the SCS will be primarily to assist farmers in construction type practices such as lay-outs and checking for ponds, terraces, etc.

Recently two employees assigned to the Giddings work unit were transferred. Robt. Kupper moved to Marlin, and Jessie J. Jackson is now living at Madisonville. This leaves a total of three permanent employees and two specialists who work intermittently out of the Giddings office in assisting Burleson-Lee Soil Conservation District. The three employees are Bob Mahler, work unit conservationist, Claud Monk, Soil Conservationist, and Marvin Liberty, engineering aid. The two specialists are Howard Moncrief, Soil Scientist and Cliff Parsons, Engineer.
