

Lexington Nursery Supplies Wholesale and Retail Trade

The Lexington Nursery, owned and operated by Chas. McIlwain, has grown into a well stock nursery, well capable of supplying the needs of the wholesale and retail trade.

The existence of this nursery in the Lexington area during the recent growth in population and home construction has helped new home owners as well as old home owners to beautify and landscape their yards.

Until recently they devoted their output to the wholesale trade only. But now they have established a retail department, which will be in charge of Mrs. McIlwain.

They have for sale balled and burlapped plants in gallon cans and shrubs of many kinds and sizes for landscaping.
