

The Giddings News

October 3, 1941

FINGERS CRUSHED

John Melcher, thrifty farmer of Fedor, got two fingers crushed in a syrup mill which he was operating at his residence. The mill was being driven by gasoline power and some cane clogged the mill. He reached up to start the cane and his hand was pulled into the mill, crushing two fingers. Physicians hope to save the fingers although the bones were mashed.
