Died In Jail

Pedro Narro died Sunday night in the county jail. He had two other Mexicans Jim and Cecil Roys had been jailed early in the night for an affray Sunday evening on the York farm near Loebau. Pedro was a son of Steve Narro and had married a sister of the Roys during the first part of this year. There had been some difference between the families. The Narros lived on the Johnson place on Dime Box prairie, and the Roys lived on the York farm. They were all at Roys Sunday afternoon. It is reported that some trouble arose between them. Narro was struck across the head with what was supposed to have been the barrel of a gun, separated from the stock, the part where the cartridge was placed being angular, cut a gash in his head. He was arrested and brought to jail, as were the other two, and he was given medical attention. The next morning he was found dead when breakfast was brought to the prisoners.
