

The Giddings News

April 10, 1931

L. W. Neumann is all smiles because he was awarded the gold-service button of the S. P. Lines for leading in the Austin division for soliciting passenger business during February. Louis is to be congratulated on this leadership over so many who were in the contest. If he gets to be so good a golfer, he might surprise his friends. The "fussy foursome" composed of Dell, Childress, Hausler and Neumann have been trying to show how to put out a Giddings team that will match up with Mr. Anybody's team anywhere. They are getting along fairly well with their experiment, even if they have to call in Mr. Williams of Austin, division engineer, who keeps his golf membership in Giddings, and has to show them how when they forget. Trainmaster J. J. Moore is called on to show them how to get the ball out of the water holes.
