Speed

Chas. Zoch who runs a truck line for heavy hauling to other towns moved Albert Ramsel to Granger one day last week. Charlie did well on the trip until he struck the black land section where a rain had fallen shortly before he arrived. With the assistance of another truck and a tractor he made eight miles in nine hours. The other truck took half of his load and the tractor took a good sized amount of cash to get him through. He had one consolation, he could not arrested for speeding there.
