

Local Plant To Start Operation

Richter Lumber and Junk Co. hopes to have their plant in full operation according to R. R. Richter, owner and operator of the plant.

"Prices have been suppressed for about 6 months," Mr. Richter stated, "with all buyers waiting on the new administration's policy. Meanwhile scrap iron and steel prices, like cattle and other commodities have declined drastically."

Richter Lumber & Junk Co. provides a market for items normally hauled away or dumped into ditches, as well as giving employment to as many as 12 people.
