At Training Center

Edmund E. Schkade has attended the General Motors training center at Houston to learn advanced automotive service techniques which he will use in his work at O. K. Sales Co. in Giddings.

Mr. Schkade spent five days at the Houston school, one of the nationwide network of training centers being set up by General Motors to keep employees of its car and truck dealerships abreast of new mechanical developments and service techniques.

A shop foreman with O. K. Sales for 30 years, he selected the new product course, taking advanced study in the all-new 1955 Chevrolet features, including the new V-8 engine, power-glide transmission, power steering, power brakes, overdrive transmission, rear axle, and suspension system.
