Age no Bar

It's mighty hard to stop some Lee County folks when they set their head to do something, even age is no bar. John Schmidt of the New Oldenburg community proves that even if a man is almost eighty years of age, he can learn to run an automobile. Mr. Schmidt came driving into town Thursday morning, just learning to drive an auto, even if he will reach his 80th year next January. He says that all he wants is a good road and nothing in his way and he can drive with any of the youngsters, and that learning to drive an auto is much fun, especially if you want to learn.
