Willie Schneider has returned home from the oil fields near Wichita Falls where he spent some time. He says that life in the oil fields is something great, that you soon become hardened to walks of life you do not experience only in the oil fields. Bill says he would like to rest up for awhile, but the truth of the matter is, the boys say, that Bill is back home now and is getting "mother's" cooking and he will not be in a hurry to leave such, and who can blame him. This old thing as leaving a good home going out in the world and up against its hardness may be alright for argument, but let the boys tell you about it that have actually experienced such and if you listen to good sound advice, you will not be in great hurry to take such a step.
