Bitten By Snake

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schultz (LCRA employee) decided to go to their farm Tuesday May 12 for the evening, and as they entered the gate at their farm, Mr. Schultz stepped out of his car and took out his gun to unload it, by doing so, one shell fell to the ground. As he stooped over to pick it up he was bitten by a copper head snake in his finger. Mrs. Schultz grabbed the gun and shot the snake and administered first aid to her husband and then rushed him to the hospital, where he was treated. Mr. Schultz is doing alright now.
