

The Giddings News
November 19, 1920

WILLIE E. STORK WRITES
BACK TO HIS OLD HOME.

Anson, Tex., Nov. 10.—To the News, Giddings, Texas. Hello! here I am with a few lines, as it rains and rains in this country. We have lots of cotton to pick here, but it is too cold and wet. Since Sunday it has been raining and is raining now, and the sun shine too. I hope it clears off so the cotton can open, that which is yet to open. The best cotton I have seen this year was at Winters, Texas, but they had a rain storm and ruined lots of it. If there is any one there that would like to know more about Anson, write to me.

Success to the News and its many readers.

Willie E. Stork.