

The Giddings News

January 29, 1932

COTTON BLOOM

Fritz Sump reported Saturday that he found a cotton bloom in his field one day last week. There has not been enough cold weather this winter to kill the cotton stalks and sugar cane in the fields. Long-time residents report that such mild winter weather was over this section years ago. That the cotton stalks in the fields were not killed.