BLUE NEWS

We people out at Blue are still able to eat all we can get.

We find most people very busy with hay and fodder trying to save all they can as corn is somewhat short.

Most of the hay crop is short; at that the farmers will find a way out with the abundance of fodder.

The cotton crop looks fair in places but bad weevil signs are found in places; there is already a right smart of bolls on the early cotton.

Early cotton is opening up in places and with warm, dry weather some people may start to picking by Aug. 15.

The writer while visiting in some South Texas fields last week in Wharton and Matagorda Counties noticed that cotton crop is fine where people got cotton up before the drouth struck them. The yield will be about 1-2 bale per acre. Some people of that section are now chopping cotton; also corn crops are fair.

Sunday School was well attended at Blue Sunday, so let's keep gaining onward with the church work.
