RABID FOX AT BLUE

Aaron Sherrill of Blue Branch reported last week that killed a rabid fox at his home.

The fox came to the Sherrill house and attacked the dogs. Mr. Sherrill killed it while one of the dogs held it.

The head of the fox was sent to Austin and the report came back that the fox was rabid.

Since it is possible that the fox attacked other dogs or that there are other rabid foxes in that neighborhood, the people are warned to observe their dogs carefully and not to become too friendly with strange dogs.
