Army Officers in Giddings.

Lieut. Glen Peterson and Lieut. Robert Oppenheimer of Camp Swift spent the week-end in the editor's home. Lieut. Peterson is a long time friend of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Partain of Washington. Lieut. Oppenheimer was born and lived up to the time of entering the service in New York City and confesses knowing little of the open life in the country. He doesn't even know which cow in the herd gives butter milk. The Lieutenants are fine folks and thoroughly enjoyed their visit here. They met some of the Giddings young ladies, so it might be that they will be seen in Giddings again before the snow flies.
