Grassyville Locals

Our people have been taking advantage of the cold weather by slaughtering their fat hogs.

The money from a fair crop of cotton, together with the proceeds of the turkey harvest and the continual income from eggs, and cream added to the many pounds of pork insures a substantial living for the people of our community.

Every one is now looking forward to a joyful Christmas tide.

Grassyville intends giving a Christmas program Friday evening Dec. 22, after which there will be a Christmas tree to delight the hearts of the children.

The Lutheran parochial school will hold its program and Christmas tree on Christmas evening December 23.

The Grassyville M. E. church will give a program and Christmas tree on Christmas evening.

Several of our families are expecting visitors during the holidays.

Otto Raesener and family of Lexington visited Rev. Vetter and family.

Otto Hoffmann is expecting his sister Mrs. Joseph and family of Manor.

W. H. Bright and family of Sherman will visit their father and mother Mr. and Mrs. Bright here.
