

Volunteer Firemen Organize at Lexington

The Lexington Volunteer Fire Department was organized at a meeting at the City Hall in Lexington recently.

C. C. Grossman was elected Fire Chief and John Taylor assistant fire chief.

The first fire drill was held Wednesday night with a good attendance of the volunteer fire men.

Chief Grossman announces that a fire drill will be held every Wednesday after 6 p. m. The signal for the drill will be a short blast on the siren to avoid confusion with the fire signal which is a repetition of long blasts.

The fire drills will be of benefit not only in providing experience of the volunteers in their respective assignments, but also to keep the equipment in shape so it will be ready when a fire does break out.
