Club Meeting
The Lexington Homemaking Club met March 12 at the Homemaking Cottage with 19 members answering to roll call. After the business meeting Mrs. Ann Winters, Home Economist for Lone Star Gas Co., gave a demonstration on the use of the broiler. As many of the school girls that could attend the meeting. It was a full cottage and a full evening. Mrs. Winters served a very tasty lunch to all present. We were happy to have Mrs. Conception Hays with us. She and her family are here from Saudi Arabia. Mrs. Hays gave a very interesting talk on their experiences while living there the two years passed. Mrs. Memms, Mrs. Norman Gray, and Mrs. Fails served cookies and punch. Club sister gifts were passed out, names revealed and drawn again for next quarter. Glad to have the visitors that were with us, and we extend an invitation to any of the women who might be interested. We meet the second Thursday in each month.
