(Delayed)

Sunday Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. and A. H. Weiser were hosts to the following Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Thorsen, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Matias and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Weiser, Mr. and Mrs. Telford Zoch, Floyd Lemons and Kenneth Weiser. It was the birthday dinner of Mrs. A. H. Weiser which falls during the week. Congratulations.

Visitors From California

Mr. and Mrs. Gruel (nee Elenore Kollman) and their four children, 2 boys and 2 girls of California visited with the H. P. Weiser's briefly Wednesday on their return trip. Mr. Gruel is a brother of the Rev. Adolph Gruel (husband of the former Ethel Fischer) of Giddings, who was a former Missionary to South America. But is now stationed in the Rio Grande Valley. That was the main reason for this trip. They had visited with them.

Then on their return they visited her uncles, the L. O. Kasper's in Houston and the C. T. Kaspers in Winchester from here. They visited also with folks in Austin and San Antonio. Many of Mrs. Gruel's school chums will be glad to read this bit of news about her.

Receive Letter

The C. Tschatschulas are in receipt of a letter from Mrs. Tschatschula's honored teacher of 34 years ago. E. W. Traugott, now teacher at Lincoln, Kansas, whose 60th birthday was on Jan. 26. He writes in part, "at times I feel fully that old, but mostly it just doesn't seem possible for I do feel much younger." They say "A man is no older than he acts." "Perhaps" then he writes "I am acting too young at times, still when we check and recheck we find that it is all very true. Our children have all grown up. Our baby (Miss Lois) was married a year ago, Feb. 17."

He and Mrs. Traugott planned to celebrate with them at their Ellsworth, Kansas home. Four of the boys are in the water well drilling business along with their uncle in North Dakota. They are next to the Canadian border.

Herbert, the oldest, is still drilling for Big Chief in the Elk City oil field. He has been with them ever since World War II ended.

Perhaps some of the Traugott's old friends will enjoy this medium of hearing from them. They are both well and extend greetings to all inquiring friends.
