Serbin Barbecue Held

In connection with the closing of the Serbin parochial school, there was held a big picnic-barbecue last Friday. The editor received a special invitation to be present and enjoy one more meal where he could eat all that he could, but absence from the county prevented him from attending. Nineteen hundred fifty pounds of fine meat was prepared for the occasion, which along with many other good things to eat, was sufficient for the large crowd. The proceeds from the sale of refreshments were sufficient to pay the expenses.
