was furnished by Prof. E. F. Wendland.

The church was decorated with baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums and other seasonal flowers.

The bride wore a white slipper satin gown fashioned with a pointed bodice, with buttons down the back, nylon yoke with French lace, sleeves which fell into a point.

Her veil was attached to a crown of orange blossoms, falling into a train which was scalloped with chantilly lace. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, with nylon and satin streamers.

Helen Fisher, cousin of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of drab olive satin and net. She carried a bouquet of bronze mums and matching ribbon.

Elinar Schimank, sister of the bride, served as junior bridesmaid. She wore a lime green gown of satin with a net yoke, and scalloped skirt. She also carried a colonial bouquet of bronze mums and matching ribbon.

Clarice Moerbe and Mary Boriack, bridesmaids, were dressed identical to the junior bridesmaids, wearing gowns in shades of peach and blue.

Oliver Biehle, cousin of the bride, served as best man.

Roland Urban and Victor Schimank were groomsmen.

The ushers were Clarence Hengst of Thorndale and Herbert Falke of Fedor.

The mothers of the couple wore navy dresses with corsages of white carnations.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where a barbecue dinner with all the trimmings was served to about 130 guests.

VOWS TOLD AT FEDOR

Miss Doris Schimank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Schimank of Fedor, and Erwin Falke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Falke of Fedor, were united in marriage Sunday, Nov. 19.
