INJURED IN CANE MILL

Otto Birke, young man working at the cane mill, happened to get a sleeve caught in the cog wheels of the cane press and almost all of his clothes were torn off before he could get loose from the press. He was wearing a pair of new overalls and had his sleeves rolled up, hence the difficulty in getting out of the cog wheels. It happened Saturday morning about 10 o'clock and he was cut severely about the body, requiring several stitches to be taken.
