

MR. AND MRS. CLARENCE HANDRICK

Wedding at Fedor

The marriage of Miss Marie Domann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Domann, to Clarence Handrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Handrick, was solemnized on May 14 at 4 p. m. in the Trinity Lutheran Church at Fedor.

The Rev. L. Karcher performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar flanked with arrangements of bouquets of gladioli, Easter lilies, carnations, and various flowers. Potted fern was arranged in the background.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin, fashioned with a shadow yoke of illusion, and edged with ruffles of chantilly lace. A fitted bodice, long petal point sleeves edged with ruffles of lace, the full skirt terminating in a cathedral train, and a tiara of seed pearls holding her fingertip veil of illusion completed the wedding gown. The wedding bouquet was an orchid surrounded with sprays of white carnations tied with satin streamers. She wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Delores Zschech, niece of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of orchid organdy over taffeta, styled with a fitted bodice, ruffles outlining the neckline and the full gathered skirt. Her headdress was of organdy and she carried a pastel shaded flower nosegay.

Mrs. Monroe Domann, Misses Bernice Dube, Clarice Moerbe, and Virginia Karcher served as bridesmaids. They were gowned in pastels of blue, green, yellow, and pink, respectively, made similar to that of the maid of honor. They also wore headdresses and carried nosegays.

Mary Ann Domann, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She was gowned in white organdy and carried a basket covered with satin ribbons in pastel shades.

Robert Melcher, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

Werner Handrick, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Groomsmen were Monroe Domann, Maurice Drosche, Roland Urban, and Edwin Jatzlau.

Erwin Domann and Clarence Michalk served as ushers.

Prof. E. F. Wendland, organist, played the traditional wedding music. Ewald Winkler, soloist, sang "Take Thou My Hands and Lead Me," with the accompaniment of Prof. E. F. Wendland.

Mrs. Paul Domann, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Paul Handrick, mother of the bridegroom, wore navy blue dresses with black accessories. Both wore a corsage of white carnations.

The wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. A barbecue dinner with all the trimmings was served. The table was centered with a large three-tiered wedding cake.

They are planning to make their home in Fedor.
