

Schatte-Unger Vows Told at Serbin

Miss Madalene Schatte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. A. Schatte, became the bride of Edwin Unger Jr., son of Edwin Unger Sr. and the late Elsie Schmidt Unger of Winchester, on Sunday, June 4, at 4 p. m. in the St. Paul's Lutheran Church at Serbin. The Rev. A. Arndt performed the double-ring ceremony before the altar which was flanked with potted greenery, white gladioli, and white tapers in branched candleabra.

Hy. Stroebel played the nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Milton Schroeder who sang "The Lord Is My Shepherd," and "The Benediction."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a creation of slipper satin with fitted bodice which featured a net yoke edged with a satin bound ruffle of chantilly lace and lace petal-point sleeves. The full flared skirt with an inserted front panel of lace extended into a chapel length train.

Her fingertip veil of net illusion was also bound with satin and was adjusted from a poke bonnet of satin edged with lace ruffles.

She carried a satin muff surrounded with white carnations and net, with tiny satin bows.

Her only jewelry was a gold and ruby lavalier worn by her mother on her wedding day.

Miss Wanda Schatte attended her sister as maid on honor. Her gown of taffeta was fashioned with fitted bodice, a draped berth collar and a very full skirt. She wore white gloves and carried a nosegay of white carnations and fern.

and fern.

Identically fashioned gowns in lilac, poudre blue, peach, maize, and aqua, respectively, were worn by the bridesmaids Misses Lucille Noak, Louise Unger, Marilyn Sander, and Arlene Wagner, and the matron of honor, Mrs. Carl Droemer.

They also wore white gloves and carried nosegays of white carnations.

Little Misses Ruth Unger and Alyce Wenke, the junior bridesmaids, wore white taffeta gowns with white satin ashes and carried white carnation nosegays.

The bride presented her attendants with white seed-bead choker necklaces.

Paul Unger served his brother as best man. The groomsmen were Monroe Schatte, Victor Hohle, Kyle Spence, and Melvin Schmidt.

Curtis Schatte and Marvin Unger served as ushers.

The home and garden of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. A. Schatte was the setting for the reception. The lace covered table was centered by the three-tiered embossed wedding cake, flanked by white taper candles in crystal holders, and white carnations.

Garden flowers were placed at vantage points throughout the home and on long tables in the garden from which the delicious barbecue supper was served to approximately 300 guests.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Andrew Schatte, Mrs. Curtis Schatte, Mrs. Walter Droemer, who presided at the bride's book. They each wore a gladioli corsage.

For her daughter's marriage Mrs. Schatte wore a navy taffeta dress with dark accessories. Mrs. Gus Unger, grandmother of the bridegroom, wore a dark printed crepe. Each had a pink carnation corsage.
